A motion was made by Mr. Stone and seconded by Mr. Brierre that the minutes from February 20, 2026 meeting be approved with correction. Motion carried unanimously.

Tulsa Regional Chamber Report

Tiyahna Garrett reported that they are closely monitoring several bills following the March 5th deadline. These include HB4273, which expands aerospace research and income tax credits to R1-designated universities; HB4409, establishing a Legislative Workforce Housing Committee; and HB3176, creating a Oklahoma Gas, AI, and Space Research Hub under the Department of Commerce. These measures could support workforce development, housing initiatives, and industry growth in energy and aerospace sectors. Ms. Garrett also noted continuing monitoring of property tax and ad valorem legislation. The upcoming Legislative Briefing Breakfast will feature Senator Rader, Commissioner Sims, and Jenks Superintendent Dr. Stacey Butterfield discussing potential impacts and legislative direction on property Tax issues.

OML Report

The Chair gave a brief update on the OML report in Ms. Blair's absence. It was noted that SB715 and SB716, related to increased employer contributions for fire and police pensions. The titles have been removed while further discussion continues. Members also discussed several data center bills, noting that the number under consideration has been reduced from twelve to four, though leadership appears hesitant to advance them. Additional discussion included concerns about proposed legislation affecting general obligation bond ballot language, which would require separate ballot questions when projects involve multiple departments. Members also noted that a bill restricting municipal lobbying had been amended and ultimately failed in committee, leaving current practices unchanged.

Discussion of 2026 issues and slate

Alex Adkins reported that the Legislature has passed the first major deadline of the session, requiring bills to advance out of committee in both chambers. A significant number of bills were eliminated at this stage. The next deadline is March 26, when House and Senate bills must pass their chamber of origin before moving to the opposite chamber for consideration.

Members discussed the broader political environment, including potential shifts related to upcoming elections and a possible U.S. Senate appointment.

Ms. Adkins reported that SB1288, addressing emergency management funding, did not receive a hearing in Senate Appropriations and therefore did not advance. While the policy received strong support, concerns about fiscal impact prevented the bill from being placed on the agenda. Members noted that the issue may be revisited later in the session or during the interim, and further discussions with legislative fiscal staff are anticipated.

The committee also discussed ongoing concerns regarding the state's handling of disaster reimbursement funds and the potential impact on local governments if state matching funds are not provided. Members emphasized the importance of continuing to raise awareness of the issue and pursuing solutions in future legislative sessions.

Additional updates were provided on various open meetings and municipal-related bills, several of which failed to advance out of committee.
